Bree is an Associate with the firms Litigation and Dispute Resolution group and is developing a general civil and commercial litigation practice.

She is becoming a strong advocate and has assisted on a range of litigation matters, including contractual and transactional disputes, and has participated in a number of arbitrations and mediations.

Bree articulated at the firm and recently graduated from the dual JD program at the University of Windsor and the University of Detroit Mercy.

During her time at law school, Bree volunteered as a caseworker at Community Legal Aid, the student run legal aid clinic at UWindsor, as well as Lakeshore Legal Aid in Riverview, Michigan. She enjoyed participating in a number of clubs, serving as president of If/When/How and as an executive member of the Hispanic and Latinx Law Students Association. She was also a member of Detroit Mercy's Law Review.

In her free time, Bree enjoys travelling, hiking, collecting vinyls, and spending time with her ever-growing fur family.
