Samantha is a litigator who delivers sincerity and strategic foresight.

Samantha has more than a decade of experience in business disputes, real estate disputes and professional liability claims. She is a business-minded litigator who offers a customized litigation experience for her clients. She actively listens to her clients concerns, examines the big picture, and proactively problem-solves.

Samantha is Vice Chair of the civil litigation section executive of the Ontario Bar Association and has chaired many professional development programs for early and mid career lawyers on professional liability claims, business development and practice management.

Samantha has acted as counsel in trials and motions for summary judgment involving solicitor negligence claims, disputes over breached real estate agreements, and other contractual disputes before the Ontario Superior Court, the Court of Appeal for Ontario the Supreme Court of British Columbia.

Samantha is currently enrolled in the Executive MBA with the Ivey School of Business. At Foglers, Samantha is co-chair of the Fogler's Business Development Committee and is excited to train early-career lawyers on the business of lawyering.
